“ To the James Family (Especially Lavern and Hettie)

I send my sincere condolences

*Although I never met Elmorris I knew him through Doris and Hettie
From the time I met Doris in New York she spoke about her brother Elmorris*

I then met Hettie and she also told me about her brother Elmorris Doris was my best friend from 1972 until her passing.

When Doris was alive we would go shopping for Christmas presents for Elmorris, Lavern and the children and later grandchildren.

I got to know him shortly after Doris's passing. He was such a thoughtful and wise person.

I know that everyone he spoke to and touch will miss him. My hope is that we all remember his love wisdom and the kindness he share with all of us.

To Lavern and Hettie I send to love and pray that God will continue to wrap his arms around, as you to this new status.

Peace love and light to the James Family

“ To Lavern, Hettie and The James Family...
What a gift I had in experiencing the wisdom, love, and generosity of spirit that came my way for this last year and a half. through Elmorris. I feel privileged to have gotten to share some good talks with him. The circumstance that started the connection, the declining health and then transitioning of younger sister, Doris, one of my dearest friends here in Los Angeles, led me to getting to know the hearts of the James family. I sense that this husband, father, grand-father, cousin, uncle, colleague, friend... whatever role he navigated with each person is going to be just as strong and influential as it was before. When we talked about life, one of the most calming phrases I needed to hear was his saying,
"We didn't come here to stay". Much love, light, and peace as you adjust to this new status. He will be missed.
Love to you all...

p.s. Margot, who assisted with Doris and was apart of many of those conversations, sends her love to the family as well.

*Elmorris was a good family man. He will be missed by many. Some people have been in your life for years and they are more than friends.
Johnny and I think of all of you as family. We feel this loss deeply and are here for you. Prayers for all!!! We love you .*
