“ My dear Robbie. I am glad that you and I got a chance to talk on Monday and celebrate Brandon's graduation. You were so happy and excited for Brandon. Little did we know that would be the last time we talked. Your leaving us brought tears and sadness to me. When I think of you, tears flow from my eyes. I pray that God holds you close to him. Rest in eternal peace, my brother. Love, your eldest brother, Michael

I love you dad it's hard not to be upset even though life took you from us far too early. I truly believe your In a better place. I'm glad we got to spend time together that day it will be a very special moment in my life, you taught me soo much about life and to except people because life is hard for most people. I learned to understand that even as a parent nobody is or will ever be perfect but you loved us as best as you could . I will always pray for you, and I'm glad we became good friends in the end watch over mom and the rest of the family, trust and believe me when I say I will be better and I will make you proud even though I knew you always were proud of me. Lord bless my dad and keep him close . Rest in Peace I will see you again love your son , Brandon

My Rob. People will celebrate your passing on 12/16. That's the declared date. However, those close know your passing was sometime late on the 14th of December. A whole year has passed and I hope your resting well with God. To say I miss your prescence is an understatement. Today Im filled with emotions trying to trace your steps on your last day on this earth. You were the biggest pain and biggest Love of my Life. We spent 33 years together and I wish things would of turned out different. I wish i would of hugged you that morning.. Instead we just stared at each other. It was the most eerie feeling.. Little did I know It was the last time I would see you. But God had plans for you and I will never ever forget you. There hasnt been a day that has passed that I havent thought about you or did the what if. None of that matters now. I have no idea what God has instored for me but I know my time with you has prepared me for the what next. Despite our differences like our son said.. You Loved me and our family the best you could and that will have to be enough for me. I hope you were well pleased that despite the opinions of others i did what you instructed upon your death. Love is eternal an thats how long I will Love you. continue to rest in power...
